

North Korea container charging rechargeable batteries

Overview

Are lithium ion batteries rechargeable?

Lithium metal batteries are non-rechargeable batteries commonly found in the standard AA or AAA sizes for small electronic devices. They have a higher concentration of energy than alkaline, nickel cadmium, and nickel metal hydride batteries. Lithium-ion batteries have a secondary cell construction, which means they are rechargeable.

Are lithium batteries shipped in a container?

There are three packaging categories for lithium batteries if they are being shipped in a container. When shipping lithium batteries, it is crucial to check the rules and regulations ahead of transportation, or work with an experienced shipping partner to ensure that your cargo is shipped following best practices.

What types of batteries can I mail or ship internationally?

There are many types of batteries that have different requirements when you wish to mail or ship them internationally: Wet batteries, also known as flooded lead-acid batteries, are commonly found in vehicles and backup power systems.

Can a damaged lithium battery be transported?

Defective or damaged lithium batteries must not be transported. Batteries must be packaged in a way that prevents damage, short-circuiting, and accidental activation. Goods must be labelled as “Lithium Ion Battery” or “Lithium Metal Battery” and include appropriate shipping marks and hazard labels.
