Overview

Are government subsidies sufficient for energy storage?

The government's incentive funds, including policy publicity and fiscal subsidies designed to encourage investment and industrial growth among energy storage operators, are insufficient compared to the national fiscal subsidies granted to the energy storage industry. Specifically, the subsidy coefficient $S_1 < a D$.

Do government subsidy levels influence energy storage operators' engagement and power system transformation?

Government subsidy levels both influence and are influenced by energy storage operators' engagement and power system transformation. Energy storage operators become proactive when their participation profit coefficient exceeds a critical threshold.

What is the energy storage capacity subsidy?

Additionally, the energy storage capacity subsidy is a one-time payment of 200 CNY/kW, while there are ongoing subsidies for charging and discharging (0.5 CNY/kWh) and for peak-valley arbitrage (0.7 CNY/kWh). The energy storage system is assumed to operate for 300 days annually, with two charge-discharge cycles per day.

Do energy storage subsidy policies stimulate photovoltaic energy storage integration projects?

The results indicate that, while the current energy storage subsidy policies positively stimulate photovoltaic energy storage integration projects, they exhibit a limited capacity to cover energy storage investment costs, thereby failing to incentivize capital market participation in the construction of such projects.
